

Civil Disobedience Workshop

Facing the accelerated effects of climate breakdown, we need a strong message and unified action.

We expect more non-violent, civil disobedient events in the future.

The session is about risking arrest and/or supporting others who do risk arrest.

During and following the workshop, no one is ever asked to risk arrest.

We believe that to engage in civil disobedience is a deeply personal decision. Such a decision requires time, reflection, information and planning.
